

NO DECISIVE BATTLE AS YET FOUGHT

AND NOW TURKEY IS ABOUT TO GET INTO THE WAR GAME

Washington, Aug. 15.—That the Turkish government will refuse to heed the demands of Great Britain and her allies regarding the giving up of the German cruisers Breslau and Goeben which sought refuge in Turkish waters and that the situation may lead to Turkey declaring war, was the statement of the Turkish ambassador A. Rustom Bey, who arrived here today.

NO DECISIVE BATTLE HAS BEEN FOUGHT BY WARRING POWERS

London, 2 p. m.—As yet there has been no decisive battle between the powers at war. The seeming slowness of forces to grapple is due to immensity of the armies involved and the herculean task imposed on the commissary.

Germany is moving with caution because with Russia at her heels the struggle with France, England, and Belgium is of immense importance to the Kaiser's forces. Germany is expected to put up a life and death fight when the battle begins. The fight will probably last several days when once it gets started.

Greece Will Declare War on Germany.

Athens, Aug. 15.—Greece will declare war on Turkey unless the Ottoman government explains the attacks on Greek merchant vessels, according to an official statement.

HORNSBY BOND FIXED AT $1,000

Charged with murder, Ross Hornsby, who shot an unknown negro in the vicinity of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger station several days ago, was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Crawford today and granted bond in the sum of $1,000.

The state introduced witnesses to prove that the defendant shot the unidentified negro. The defense waived the right to introduce testimony, and argued the question of bond. The state was represented by solicitor T. H. Crawford and H. K. Martin, while E. H. Hill and B. G. Farmer appeared for the defendant.

ENGLAND MAKES RULING ON GERMAN-AMERICANS

London, August, 15.—The American embassy here today established the ruling that all German-Americans reading in the British Isles who apply for American passports must prove their naturalization as American citizens or register with the police as German subjects.

This ruling is in accordance with a regulation issued by the police. The American consul at Turin, Italy, reports that Americans in Budapest, Hungary, are well provided for.

WILSON'S FRIENDS URGE HIM TO TAKE VACATION

Washington, Aug. 15.—Friends of President Wilson are urging him to take a rest within the next two weeks, but so far he has made no definite plans. White House officials said today he would promptly sign the bill.

SALVATIONISTS WROUGHT UP

Adjutant and Mrs. Grimshaw Take Exception at Alleged Insinuations They Had Part in Fire.

Strongly resenting what they interpreted as an insinuation that they had a part in the burning of a house on East Crawford street, occupied by Salvation Army officials, Adjutant and Mrs. Grimshaw, who were in Montgomery at the time of the fire, gave out stirring interviews today.

With tears in her eyes and choking with emotion, Mrs. Grimshaw explained that the property belonging to the Army and their own personal property was worth more than for which it was insured. She was greatly hurt at what she considered an insinuation that they had anything to do with the fire.

Had Heard of Doothan.

The reputation Doothan has gained for its alleged incendiary fires reached Mrs. Grimshaw before they came to this city, she explained, and it was with some degree of doubt that they took up the work here. She said that with fires occurring in the city, and with some near them, that they decided as a precautionary measure to have their personal effects and the army's goods insured, although she valued the goods greatly above the amount for which they were insured.

Why This Inactivity?

Mrs. Grimshaw asked why it was that somebody was not engaged to ferret out the mysterious fires here, and why nothing, insofar as she knows, has been done along this line by the mayor and city officials. Adjutant Grimshaw, speaking with calmness and deliberation, said he would defy Buck Baker or any man to tell him to his face that he or the Army officials had any connection with the fire.

The Adjutant was asked what he thought of the origin of the fire. "I am positive," he said, "that the house was set on fire." Then he said he understood real estate agents had found a piece of weather boarding with holes in it.

Jumped at Window.

On the night of the fire Envoy Watson said one of his dogs jumped at a window in a room as if somebody was on the outside, and while the Envoy went outdoors, armed with a window stick, he could find no one. He thought he heard steps hitting the sidewalk though, he said.

The struggles of the Salvation Army for existence in Doothan, was explained by Adjutant Grimshaw, who said that while the people were generous in their contributions at first, they had not kept it up. The Army, he said, had been having a hard struggle for existence.

The furniture and other valuables belonging to Adjutant and Mrs. Grimshaw was insured for $200, while the property of the Army was insured for $200. They value the property above the amount of the insurance.

YOUNG MEN TO MEET MONDAY

A general meeting of the Young Men's Club will be held in the club rooms, North Foster Street, Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at which time all members and prospective members are urged to be present.

The call for the meeting has been issued by President O. L. Tompkins and C. W. Newton, chairman of the Board of Governors, both of whom are especially anxious for a large attendance as matters of great importance to the organization will come up for consideration.

The Young Men's Club was organized several months ago under the most promising prospects, and while the work of the association has not progressed very rapidly it has progressed surely. Interest in the movement has been kept up by officers and members of the club.

At the outset the purposes of the organization were set out in the constitution, which is familiar to all members.

Emperor Works 14 Hours Daily

(Special Dispatch by the International News Service.)

Vienna, Aug. 15.—The aged Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, Hungary, who has ruled longer than any other crowned head in the world and, who more than a year ago was supposedly dying of old age, is working fourteen hours every day during the war crisis.

Ever since the war clouds began to gather over Austria and Serbia following the assassination in Bosnia of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the throne of the Dual Monarchy, Emperor Francis Joseph has gone to his executive office at five o'clock each morning and remained there, steadily at work, with but brief intervals for meals, until seven at night.

When the trouble with Serbia first became serious, his Imperial Majesty was at Ischl, the summer capital. It was there that he began his fourteen hours a day working schedule. He gave up his shooting excursions, which are his favorite amusement and devoted all his waking hours to work.

Shortly after the threatened war became an actuality, Emperor Francis Joseph returned to Vienna and since then has been at work two hours more than half of each day. The old ruler is in no sense a figurehead. He, perhaps more even than the German Kaiser, is the actual head of his government. Francis Joseph really is directing every move of the Austrian army in the great war. Not a step is taken in Bosnia, though not the ordinary course of perhaps no European ruler, is so much as to sign a decree without his approval.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination as alderman of the city of Dothan, from Ward 1, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, September 14, 9-14. J. B. MARTIN.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination as alderman from ward 1, subject to the action of the democratic primary, September 14th. W. T. Singletary.

Instead of Dr. McNeill's being incited by the attempt to burn his parsonage home, down at Dothan, it would seem from the press reports that the plain remarks he made to the liquor brigade, their eddies, allies and abettors in his common law Sunday were an ample sufficiency for them to learn his sentiments. That he ought to be sought to open the eyes of the people of Alabama from Tennessee to the Gulf. More than one official down there has seemingly "found himself" in a night. "It" fame be the proper appellation for it.—Alabama Christian advocate.

A large majority of the people no longer remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. The automobile has been an aid in causing a lack of reverence for the nation's Sabbath.

We are told there's always plenty of room at the top, but a fellow's got to learn to do the balancing act after he gets there.

If you've never seen the stylish dances take in the one "for men only" at the fair grounds this fall, it's real elevatin'.

It is said that creek suckers bite best in March, but the kind that still try to get something for nothing bite all the time.

"What are you going to do when the boll weevil comes," has given way to "what's the war news?"

It will not be long after commission government is inaugurated before we will be wondering how we ever did business without it.

And another thing, the city commissioners will install some drinking fountains for horses.

"There springs eternal in the human mind," also there wouldn't be a man here for nothing.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The Department of Agriculture at Washington is conducting a humorous department. The subject of the humorous story they sent out for the papers to publish yesterday was "Home Manufacture of Syrup from Sugar Cane." It contains a wealth of information as well as humor for the poor, beleaguered farmer who all these years has failed to know how to make syrup. For the information and entertainment of our readers we produce some of the hitherto undiscovered and valuable instructions:

"In the making of syrup from sugar cane on a small scale, the farmer must use some form of mill, either an upright, two-roller or three roller mill, driven by horse power, gasoline or steam."

Thank you so much for this information. We had always believed the farmer had his old lady and the children sit on the cane to mash the juice out of it.

But the department's funny man does not leave the farmer in ignorance of the correct and proper method of producing the syrup after he has gotten the juice from the cane, so, hear him or be eternally "ruined."

"The juice from the mill should be caught in a barrel or tank and can be taken in buckets to the boiling apparatus, or may be caught in a wooden trough with a pipe connection to the evaporator. Before the juice is put in the boiling pan it should be strained through a cheesecloth or a wire-mesh sieve somewhat finer than ordinary window screen."

This removes the solid particles from the cane and helps to improve the color and flavor of the syrup.

Thank you again. We thought, though, straining removed the "solid particles" from the juice.

Now, after you have digested, assimilated and appropriated those heretofore mentioned ideas you will be in position to heed the instructions hereinafter instructed, to-wit:

"As soon as the fresh juice begins to boil in the first pan, which should be over a hot part of the fire, a certain quantity of scum rises to the surface." Surely you are mistaken. And concerning scum, deponent sayeth further: "This scum should be raked to the side and scooped out for," says the humorist of the Department of Agriculture, "it contains albuminous substances, like the white of an egg, which curdle on heating and by curdling take up the floating material and clear the juice."

We don't know but have a suspicion that he means "cane skimmings" in speaking of scum, and in closing this highly meritorious article he calls on the farmer to remember "the hot syrup is thinner than the same syrup after it is cold." How remarkable!

Now, we just know this fellow has never been in five hundred miles of a cane mill while in operation, has never eaten foam out of the syrup trough with a cane peeling, and never sat on a pile of "chows" and peed cane for and made love to the sweetest creature under the bending blue, a rosy checked, dimpled country girl, or he would not be trying to instruct southern farmers in doing something they have been experts at since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

If the farmers take all the advice offered them now they are liable to get foundered.

LUKE M'LUKE SAYS

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

A woman is a queer proposition. The more she knows about her husband before company the more she respects him when they are alone.

Many a man who is too honest to dye his hair thinks nothing of whitewashing his conscience.

Anyway, the old-fashioned man who used to bring home his house in a fog, and called it "groceries" didn't have to go to the polls every few months and vote against a proposition that would compel him to purchase the liquor from a blind tiger and pay four prices for it.

And if the Society for the Regulation of Other People's Business can compel you to submit to state-wide prohibition, what is to prevent it from going further and regulating the width of your pants and the height of your collar?

Every woman wants to own something she can boss, and if she can't get a dog or a cat, she gets a husband.

Men are hot grown boys. And you may have noticed that when two boys are playing with a toy wagon the smallest boy is always the horse.

Even if you are lacking in some things, cheer up. The dog with the shortest tail wears the fewest tin cans.

There is a use for everything. The man who has a flowing mess of whiskers seldom spills any soup on his shirt front.

Adam hadn't anything to kick about. When he came home at night Eva never kissed him to get a whiff of his breath to see if he had been drinking.

The trouble with this world is that people who haven't anything to say always insist upon saying it. Any homebody can shoot straight. But it takes a man to think straight.

A man never knows how many faults he has until he marries.

The wooden-headed Indian who used to stand in front of the cigar store has been displaced by the ivory-headed Indian who stands in front of the big league baseball stands.

History contains the names of many eloquent orators. But when it comes to talking, old German booze can make the others look like dummies.

Among the other pests a man hates to meet is the guy who is so lazy that he lets the wind blow his nose.

ARMY POST HAZING

A Very Raw Recruit Who Got a Very Warm Reception.

HIS CLASH WITH "OLD BULL."

After the Quite Informal Introduction to the Colonel Was Effected the "Blind Turned and "Corporal Suda" Got a Dose of His Own Medicine.

General E. V. Sumner, who was long colonel in command of the "Fighting Seventh" cavalry, was known to the rank and file of his regiment as "Old Bull." His gruff manners may have had something to do with the nickname, but it came to him fairly by inheritance. His father, General Sumner, bore it before him.

When the Seventh was stationed at Fort Grant, Arizona, a very raw recruit was sent on from Kansas City. As usual, the men persecuted him from the start. He returned weekly from the ordinance stores with the information that "left handed raincoats" were all gone; without batting an eyelid he reported that the sergeant in charge of the post exchange swore at him when he applied for his "litter check." They took his last two bits away from him in the canteen in some local pennance. After supper he was "blacked tossed" until the arms of the canteen grew weary, and three times that night his bunk collapsed amid roars of merriment. The recruit then gave up the struggle and lay slumbering upon the floor until morning.

He neither murmured nor complained. In fact, he seemed to be so sophisticated that when he asked his room corporal where he could have some washing done the corporal, with a jerk of his thumb, indicated the room adjoining officer's house on the corner of the parade. "Go over to that bil house," the corporal directed. "Take your bundle with you and ask for Old Bull. He takes in all the washin' at this post."

Grasping his little bundle, the green lad from Kansas City shuffled across the parade, mounted the colonel's front stoop and innocently pulled the door bell. The joke was an old one, as Old Bull had never been known to answer the bell in person, and more than one recruit had learned the way to "Soap suds row" after a tongue lashing from the commandant's dimly muffled of work. And as she had threatened to send the best man who bothered her about his washing the tip was passed along from troop to troop, and the new recruit was on the veranda to see the fun.

But just as the recruit pulled the bell who should step out but Old Bull himself, booted and spurred for his morning ride.

"What do you want here?" he thundered, surprised to see an enlisted man at his front door.

"I—I wanted to see about getting these shirts and socks done up, mister," stammered the frightened recruit. "They told me to come over here and ask for Old Bull," he added.

"Well, I'm Old Bull!" roared the colonel. "You come along with me and point out the man that sent you over here," he went on as he grasped the astonished youth and hurried him toward the troop quarters.

The crowd upon the veranda melted away as Colonel Sumner approached, but the gully corporal was found lurking in the troop barber shop. Some heated language ensued, and then at the end of the painful interview Old Bull delivered himself thus: "Corporal, I ought to have you court-martialed. I could have your stripes taken away and see that you got about thirty days into the bargain or I could have you flogged. But you've been one of my best concerns. You're always sober and a good shot, and so I'm not going to take your chevrons, your liberty or your money away from you. But since you're such an expert on laundry matters I order you to do this man's washing on the front porch of these quarters every Monday morning at guard mount.

"And you," he belittled, turning to the recruit and shaking his gauntlets at him, "you see that you have at least two suits of underclothes and seven pairs of socks for him every week. And if he don't wash 'em clean you report to Old Bull, that's me!"

And thereafter for several months, until a band of Santa Anna Apaches went on a rampage and gave them more serious things to think about, the men of the Seventh looked forward happily to Monday morning guard mount. The noncommissioned laundryman became known as "Corporal Suda" and was teased about the affair until the day a piece of Spanish shrapnel cut short his existence.—Yonkers Companion.

BERGSON SAYS WAR IS ONE OF BARBARISM

Paris, Aug. 15.—Henry Bergson, the philosopher said today: "The war against Germany is the struggle of civilization against barbarism. The French academy whose duty it is to plumb sociological and moral questions is bound to put German's brutality, cynicism and imagery on record."

IN BAD COMPANY

"We wonder what the Birmingham News and the Montgomery Advertiser will have to say on this Dothan outrage. They are in bad company. The gangsters they have defended so strenuously are capable of any criminal action. These papers and certain ultra-respectable liquor advocates should find the scales falling from their eyes, and publicly acknowledge that they cannot continue to travel in this company they have been keeping. It is hard to understand how men can go to church on Sunday, pose as good heads of decent homes, and then on a great moral issue, consort with the very lowest elements of society, taking sides in the issues against the best interests of the home and all it stands for. The only explanation thus far in appetite and aversion. These two things have a powerful following in Alabama today."

—Alabama Citizen.

Dothan is ashamed of its record along the above lines. It has repeatedly refused to help itself. Probably there will be a revolution. There should be. It is hardly likely that the present conditions can continue. Somebody will be caught in time, likely.

One prominent insurance man says he believes the Frank Bartlett fire (with no insurance on stock or building), the parsonage, and the Salvation Army home, were all the work of the same party or parties, and burned for the same cause. He didn't think the tiger element had anything to do with it.

The chief official of Houston county, made the statement openly, that he believed the parsonage was burned for the insurance.

The chief official of the city is out in an article that attempts to show the parsonage was burned for the insurance.

The Methodist church owned the parsonage. The insurance was likely made payable to the trustees of the church.

When one resorts to such arguments, excusing such criminal acts, coming from high officials, what's to be done about it?

Who could benefit by the burning of the Methodist parsonage? Was the insurance paid to an individual, or a body of men who would convert the money to their own use? The intimation is preposterous.

What is to be drawn from the statements by these two high officials? Only that they believe the churches—the officials of the churches—have banded themselves together to burn houses for the insurance.

One of these men is a member of one of the churches, but hasn't been very active along church lines for the past few years. The other has

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and lost all hope of a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work."

I began taking Cardui, the women's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 45 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 15.

Cardui certainly saved me from being my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them.

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 30 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

never made much pretensions along that line.

What effect do their open expressions have upon the youth of Dothan, who are the men of tomorrow?

FORCED LOAN OF $100,000

U. S. California, Mazatlan, Mex., Aug. 12.—(Delayed in Transmission.)—On assuming charge of Mazatlan today Governor Riveros of the Constitutional administration immediately ordered removed from the doors and windows of all German stores signs which had been placed there reading:

"German property, under protection of the German cruiser Leipzig." The Leipzig has left here and is now off San Francisco.

The next act of the new government was to levy a forced loan of $100,000 on all foreign merchants. General Alvarado, in command of the insurgents in the State of Sonora, has been placed under arrest with all his staff by order of Governor Maytorena and taken to Hermosillo.

PRICE OF SUGAR WILL PROBABLY GO HIGHER

W. L. Murdock Writes Letter Concerning Advance in Price of Sugar.

A letter on the advance in price on sugar has been received by The Birmingham Ledger from W. L. Murdock.

The letter follows:

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 14.

Editor Birmingham Ledger, Birmingham, Ala.

"Dear Sir: Noting your editorial regarding advanced prices on sugar I would like to call your attention to a telegram just received in my office from Willett & Gray, the most reliable sugar house in New York. It reads, 'Refined sugar now $7.50 per hundred pounds for fine granulated, raw sugar $6.52.'

"Sales of raws for prompt shipment from Cuba were made yesterday at price named, $6.52, and as it costs about 30 cents per 100 pounds to refine, you can see that the refiners are strictly in line on cost.

"Refiners are discouraging speculation as tending to advance prices and to that end they are refusing to sell wholesalers over 100 barrels at one time, and will not book any contracts at any price for forward delivery.

"These conditions make it absolutely necessary for our local jobbers to work on the refiners' prices from day to day.

"Raw sugars have advanced over 3 cents per pound in the last ten days and that is unparalleled in the recent history of the sugar business.

"The probable loss of the immense beet sugar crops of Germany, France and Belgium in 1914 and the consequent world shortage of sugar by this withdrawal of several million tons offers a very reasonable explanation of the rapid advance in price of this commodity. It is probable that we will see much higher prices.

"Yours truly,

"W. L. MURDOCK."

TWO WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chicago, Ill.—"I must thank you with all my heart for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to go to my doctor for pills and remedies and they did not help me. I had headaches and could not eat, and the doctor claimed I had female trouble and must have an operation. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it and feel fine. A lady said one day, 'Oh, I feel so tired all the time and have headache.' I said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' and she did and feels fine now."—Mrs. M. R. Karschnick, 1438 N. Paulina Street, Chicago, Illinois.

The Other Case.

Dayton, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of pains in my side that I had for years and which doctors' medicines failed to relieve. It has certainly saved me from an operation. I will be glad to assist you by a personal letter to any woman in the same condition."—Mrs. J. W. Sherrer, 125 Cass St., Dayton, Ohio.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

NIGHTFALL

The day dies.
The last faint ember of the setting sun
Goes out; and long, dark Night comes on apace.
A stillness wraps the world in solemn thought.
No song of bird, no rustle of the breeze
Disturbs the sacred silence of the hour.
On rapid wing, a solitary dove
Purges her lonely and belated flight
To eastward skies o'ercast with leaden clouds.
So white, so sad, so lost in such a sky!
Her course is straight and swift as arrow's flight—
And darkness swallows up the white-winged bird.
A star peeps out—and Night is on the world.
—Edward M. Carney in Colliers.

WOMEN AND CLOTHES—

The following item, "Ethics of Dress" from the Dixie Home Magazine will be found interesting as well as amusing.

"With both the press and the pulpit making dress and dress reform the leading question of the hour, it really has become a matter not only of national but international importance, as well, and yet what of it? True, while the press continues to 'spread the gospel' the pulpit has ceased to 'spread considerable' in fact, has ceased altogether, but what matter, and why all this resentment?"

"Twenty odd years ago when women began to wear tailored coat suits and plain shirtwaists, up came a mighty howl of protest and a host of prophetic warnings, as to how women would soon be assuming male attire in full. And skirts were five yards wide at that time.

"At the present date skirts scarcely a yard all around, the most exquisitely feminine waists of dainty lines and cuts are being worn, but still the same wail of protest arises coupled with the prediction of trousers being assumed at an early date.

"Queer, isn't it? the jealous care with which men guard the wearing of trousers? Seems as though they deem it their only badge of manhood, and yet the only women who wear, or seem to care to wear this main attribute of masculine dress are those who live in the closest bondage, the enslaved women of the far east, whose every thought or act is dominated by a master.

"Dress always has been and always will be the question of greatest importance, but men are worrying themselves with a useless burden when they undertake to answer it. Long before the press or the pulpit has decided what is moral and what is immoral in dress, their arguments will have been sidetracked by a change in styles, and all their carefully prepared evidence (reduced to useless scribble.

"As a matter of course, at all seasons, and with every style, some women will bedeck or undeck themselves in such a manner as to call forth deserved censure, but that is the woman in herself, not the style; her love of extremes and desire to attract attention, so why condemn the entire mode of dress. We doubt not that even in the days of hoop skirts there were many belonging an earlier generation who found much to complain of and many to criticize. Nevertheless the hoop-skirts flourished and were worn until—they went out of style!

"That's it—that's the real key to the situation—the solution of the problem—to be in, or out of style! Right now, with the style of dress changing every week, to be correctly dressed is about the hardest thing a woman can try to do. A dress made today is out of date tomorrow and that is what worries its wearers.

"Men may keep the trousers and wear them as they wish, no one else wants them, but women are going to follow the dictates of style, regardless of editorials or sermons, and whether skirts flare at the top or bottom is no great moral issue. It is only a question of moment, and one which neither the press nor the pulpit has any influence in deciding."

NARROWLY ESCAPE DROWNING
Panama City Pilot.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of Dothan, and D. H. Stubbs of Marianna, had a very narrow escape from drowning at the Gulf Beach Sunday afternoon. The prompt action of other bathers, however, saved them. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, who had ventured out beyond the life lines were caught by the strong undertow, and Mr. Stubbs, upon seeing their plight, hastened to their assistance, at the same time summoning additional help. Messrs. Wallace, Livingston, Newberry and others responded, but by the time they reached the endangered bathers, Mr. Stubbs, who recently suffered a severe attack of pneumonia, had collapsed, due to over-exertion in his weakened condition, so it became necessary for the rescuers to take all three out of the beach. Mr. Stubbs was unconscious, and remained so for some time after being carried out of the water, but Mr. and Mrs. Ward seemed not to have been greatly upset by their trying ordeal.

It is to be hoped that this near-tragedy will prove a beneficial lesson to some of the more venturesome spirits, who enjoy going out beyond their depth, and thus avert a repetition of this occurrence.

J. D. Campbell of the Campbell Institute, went to Geneva this afternoon.
